An analysis from Richard Ingersoll finds that 44 % of new teachers quit within five years of teaching (Will, 2020)

This mentorship program looks to provide support for and increase retention of, early-career educators.

- Matched with mentors outside of their district.
- Mentors and mentees meet monthly to discuss issues and strengths and together develop a data-based personalized action plan, ready for implementation.
- Mentors and mentees participate in a curriculum developed around the needs of new teachers, topics ranging from parent contact to technology in the classroom.
